5th Army Chasing Nazis To North Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, June 5 (AP)—The powerful Fifth Army thundered across the Tiber toward northern Italian horizons in pursuit of the 10th and 14th German armies today — with hardly a look at captured Rome, ancient seat of western civilization fallen a prize to Allied troops after nine months of sacrifice.

Last-ditch German rearguards died within the shadow of the Roman Forum and in the streets of the government quarter in bitter clashes as Italian Partisans, barechested and wearing hammer and sickle insignia, fought hand to hand with Fascists and Nazis in a brief battle for liberation.

The Italian populace cheered American and Allied infantry and tank teams as they threaded the city's streets, rushed to kiss the bearded and grimy liberators and with shrill cries warned of ambushes ahead.

Some of the Romans died in the city's closing hours of German domination—victims of machine guns they tried to seize almost bare-handed.

AXIS ENVOYS IN VATICAN

But despite the sporadic clashes, which took place even though the German high command had pretended until the last that Rome was an open city, the Italian capital with its store of cultural and religious treasures apparently came through unscathed for the most part.

Police said all was quiet at the Vatican, where the Pope has been a virtual prisoner of German bayonets since last September. A Berlin broadcast said Baron von Weizsaecker, German ambassador to the Holy See, "has left his residence in Rome, Villa Bonaparte, and moved to Vatican City. Other diplomatic missions of the tripartite powers will move to Vatican City—namely those of Japan, Hungary, Slovakia, Romania and Finland."

(Editor's Note: Rome's great airports which lie outside the historic city are expected to prove of utmost importance to the Allies in the further subjugation of Hitler.)

(British correspondents in Madrid said the Pope spent Sunday in prayer and in consultation with Papal officials during the hours of violent liberation of the city. The Swiss Guard had been doubled about Vatican City to prevent an influx of refugees.

KING READY TO QUIT

(King Victor Emmanuel was expected to hand over his power to Crown Prince Umberto at a formal ceremony in keeping with his promise of several months ago

Rome Is Intact, People Joyous

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, June 5 (AP)—Rome, shining brightly in sparkling sunlight and spared almost entirely from the ravages of war, today gave Fifth Army troops a welcome which turned the Eternal City into a near carnival.

The city is virtually intact. The Germans limited their demolitions to a few installations of no artistic or religious importance.

At the Vatican, a Swiss guard said the Germans always had respected its neutrality and he hoped the Americans would.

There was no special guard around the Vatican and at the portals of Vatican City, at the left of the facade, there were only a few Papal gendarmes.

All Rome was up at dawn today swarmed in to occupy the whole of the capital.

From both the Appian and Casilinian ways columns of tanks, guns and trucks crowded with soldiers poured in. The Romans were lined up to greet them and pelt them with flowers.

The cheers grew louder and soon that famous Italian invention, confetti, made its appearance. It was home-made.

The people, like their city, seemed war-worn and thinner than the Romans were before. But they were very happy and there was no doubt they were glad to be delivered by the Allies and glad to see Americans.

The entry into Rome was something different than anyone had expected, and devoid of the spectacular. But today was a triumph in the classic Roman style. The soldiers were happy but restrained. They were overawed by Rome and within a short time it was evident that Rome had taken them as much as they had taken Rome.

The people's reception approached hysteria as the morning wore on and as more troops came.

At 10 a. m. Lieut.-Gen. Mark W. Clark, wearing a simple field uniform and no decorations, entered the city in a jeep and drove to the Campodoglio, or Roman city hall, and formally proclaimed the occupation, praising the valor of his troops and paying tribute to those fallen.

Jap Aim to Cut China in Two

By WILLIAM PHIPPS
Associated Press War Editor

The Japanese war octopus is running against ever-heavier Allied air blows on five of its far-flung tentacles, but Tokyo radio said today "an offensive which will cut China in two and foil American strategy" is ready.

Allied aerial successes were reported in new assaults in New Guinea operations in the Southwest Pacific, against the Kurile islands in the north Pacific and on Turk in the central Pacific.

In the vital China theater where Chinese troops are trying to stop the Jap advance on Changhsa in Hunan Province American airmen harassed the invaders.

Pacific War

And in the India-Burma theater an Allied operational summary said "overwhelming air superiority" was a major factor in placing those campaigns in favorable positions before the monsoons curtailed progress.

American bombers from the Southwest and Central Pacific hit Truk another one-two blow and other American planes carried their Kuriles offensive into the fifth straight day, hitting Shumushu, Paramushiro and Matsuwa.

French Coast Battered Again

LONDON, June 5 (AP) — Approximately 1250 American heavy bombers and fighters—leading an Allied aerial assault of powerful proportions against the fortified French coast—smashed military installations in the Boulogne and Calais areas today with an estimated 2200 short tons of bombs.

This was the fourth attack in a row against Pas de Calais, the area of France closest to England, and came after RAF bombers attacked the French coast objectives and targets in Cologne, Germany, last night.

Watchers on the English coast facing Bologne could see enemy rocket shells rising from the ground and exploding high in the air.

For over three hours powerful fleets of American and British bombers thundered across the channel. Clouds which replaced the earlier clear sky failed to halt the offensive.

Subs Sink 16 More Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS)—The Navy announced today that 16 more Japanese supply vessels and transports have been sunk by American long range submarines operating in Pacific and Far Eastern waters.

The latest enemy sinkings included one large transport, one large cargo vessel, seven medium cargo ships, two small cargo craft, four medium cargo transports and one small cargo ship.

This new blow at Japan's supply line boosted to 589 the total number of Japanese vessels of all types sent to the bottom by American undersea craft since the outbreak of the war.

The Navy's communique today indicated that the American submarine fleet has stepped up its offensive to cut Japan's supply lines to forward areas.

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—British submarines sank 31 Axis ships, 26 of them merchantmen and five naval auxiliaries, in recent operations in the Mediterranean and Aegean seas, the Admiralty announced tonight.

Seven other merchantmen were damaged, the communique said. One of the British prizes was a large, strongly-escorted munitions ship bound for the Greek island of Crete.

Family Doctor Noxon Witness

PITTSFIELD, June 5—The trial of John F. Noxon, Jr., charged with the murder of his infant son, resumed in Superior Court today with the accused socialite attorney hoping "it all soon will be over."

This was the wish he voiced to a jail official during a quiet Sabbath at Berkshire County jail—a Sabbath which saw the jury which must decide his fate attend mass, take in a ball game and go for a long walk. Movies were ruled out when it was found all local showings included a murder theme.

The first witness scheduled was Walter P. Sime, Pittsfield undertaker who prepared the infant for burial last September.

Next was one of the key state witnesses, Dr. George Pratt Hunt, friend of the Noxon family and the physician who first told Noxon that his baby—then only four weeks—showed abnormal tendencies which might make him a mental and physical defective for all the days he lived.

Dr. Hunt's diagnosis was later confirmed, at Children's Hospital in Boston, by Dr. Richard Mason Smith, famed expert, who informed the Noxons that their baby was incurably defective—a mongoloid type who could never achieve social and economic independence.

Following Dr. Hunt on the stand, according to Dist. Atty. Charles R. Alberti, prosecutor for the State, Dr. Smith will testify.

Other noted medical experts for the Commonwealth who are in the state's lineup of witnesses, include: Dr. Alan R. Moritz, famed state police pathologist of Harbard Medical School; Dr. Joseph Walker, state police chemist, who will testify concerning chemical analysis of burns he made on specimens submitted to him, and Dr. Robert E. England, the local medical examiner who, with Dr. Hunt, arrived at the Noxon home soon after the death of the baby. Dr. England performed the official autopsy on the child's body.

Dist. Atty. Alberti said he had not decided just when he would call Dr. England as his witness.

King Out, Son Now Rules Italy

By MICHAEL CHINIGO

ROME, June 5 (INS)—King Victor Emmanuel today turned over his prerogatives to Prince Humbert in conformance with a recent statement that he planned to retire as Italy's ruler as soon as Rome fell to the Allies.

Meantime, the government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio was in another political crisis because his cabinet is clamoring for another reshuffle of the ministry in order to place more civilians in positions of power.

All of the Italian political parties staged demonstrations, the Communists being the most noisy. The Union Democrats, who are monarchists, were most numerous.

The Germans took particular pains to remove many anti-Fascist personalities when they evacuated Italian political prisoners and hostages, but several "big men" are free, including former Prime Minister Orlando and Senator Bergamini, famed anti-Fascist owner of the Giornale d' Italia. And there are definite symptoms that these men and their followings have their own ideas about who should govern Italy.

GI Touch

NEW YORK, June 5 (INS)—The Allied entry into Rome received its crowning touch today when a GI Joe stood with one of his comrades on the marble balcony overlooking the famous Piazza de Ventia where Mussolini used to harangue the Italian people into war and made a speech about the fallen dictator.

National Broadcasting Company's Ralph Howard, broadcasting the incident today from Rome, said "a cheering crowd of Italian men, women and children stood below and although they didn't understand a word he said they laughed and cheered and waved flags."

"The speech," Howard reported, "was highly sensible."

Doomed Soldier, Flown Here, Dies

Corp. James M. Coleman, 38, of South st., Roslindale, brought here last week in a dramatic plane flight from Atlanta to be near his family, died today at Cushing General Hospital in Framingham.

Victim of a head injury at Camp Shelby, Miss., last month, Corp. Coleman underwent an emergency brain operation in Atlanta, but the result was unsuccessful.

Reported to be the first critically ill soldier to be handled in this way by the Army, Corp. Coleman was flown from Atlanta to Bedford airport late last week and transferred by ambulance to the Framingham Hospital.

Clark's Talk

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—The Naples radio said Lieut.-Gen. Mark W. Clark of the Fifth Army in a speech to his corps commanders had declared.

"We have destroyed parts of two German armies, the 10th and 14th, and I doubt if the 14th is any longer capable of fighting. We have taken 20,000 prisoners, wrecked the German armies and have captured and destroyed untold quantities of enemy battle equipment."

The radio said Clark then told Italian Rome representatives he was pleased with the condition of the city, regarding both public utilities and the streets' clean appearance.

Seer Promises Romance

By HELEN FARLOW

The subtle seeds of infidelity are being planted in the lonely, dissatisfied minds of servicemen's brides by a dark-eyed Back Bay fortune teller who promises flattering male adoration, divorce, and remarriage to the forlorn girls and women who come to her for counsel, and whom she spots as easy victims by their bright new wedding rings and the service insignia they wear.

Many of these girls have not seen their bridegrooms for months, even years. Many of them are lonely to the verge of desperation. And many of them, young and gullible, may even be foolish enough to let the treacherous thought, "it's in the cards," beguile them into flirtations—or worse.

"I see you marrying again, marrying this man who is not your present husband," she told me, in my role of a soldier's wife. "Not being widowed, however . . . but you know what I mean . . . marrying again."

And as she spoke, her eyes wavered from my rapt face to the Signal Corps pin at my throat, and flashed back again.

How many homes are being split through such insidious advice will never be known until the boys march home . . . march home to find much they held dear despoiled by such racketeers as these.

Accompanied by another Daily Record reporter, I invaded the psychic's stronghold, two dingy rooms in a Back Bay lodging house, to learn if it were true that she is telling such tales to lonely girls. She was one of many fortune tellers investigated by me and three other reporters, all from the Boston American, in an effort to find the exact extent of the harm they are doing to home front morale.

An angular, middle-aged woman with sparse iron-grey hair and wise, expressive eyes, the fortune teller calls herself a purveyor of "psychic and astrological card readings and palmistry."

Her dark, stuffy rooms teem with a constant stream of eager customers—women and men anxious to pay a $2 fee to this mystic, who boasts that she has been a reader for over 40 years.

The past two years—the years of war and tribulation—have been her busiest and most prosperous, the medium says. "People have many problems in wartime," she adds, smugly.

"I have many Army people come in—captains, lieutenants, and colonels," she said, "I had a young Coast Guardsman come in here this morning. And I have many who are just plain sailors."

In fact, she added, "I have never been so busy. All my people come back to me; I can help them all."

The angular mystic reads cards, but does most of her prophecying through vibrations, by holding her client's two hands very tightly in her own. Then she closes her eyes and talks very rapidly.

"It is hard to get through to you because you're so upset right

Kelly Lambasts 'Girlish Fight'

In the moot matter of sex—which entered politics some years ago when suffragettes marched finally into the vote—former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly carried himself quite a beef today before the State Ballot Law Commission.

At the start of considerable of a spelling lession before the board, Kelly, candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney-geieral, declared flatly there was no protest against his candidacy or against validity of signatures on his nomination papers.

The board, it turned out, had before it a protest by Atty. Francis D. Harrigan of Dorchester, another candidate, against nomination paper signatures, which Harrigan alleged were fraudulent or attended with other irregularities.

SPELLED FEMININE WAY

As the hearing got under way, Kelly told the commissioner:

"I now submit a photostatic copy of the protest filed against papers for the nomination for attorney-general at 1 minute before 5 p. m., May 26. I submit that this protest was filed against Frances E. Kelley—Frances E. Kelley—with an 'E' in the first name—clearly a member of the female sex. My name is spelled Francis E. Kelly.

"I went to the Secretary of State's office to see of any woman named Frances E. Kelley was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney-general, but found there was no such candidate.

"Therefore, this protest is against a woman who isn't even a candidate and no hearing should be held and no testimony taken. If a hearing proceeds, I suppose it will be against a woman named Frances E. Kelley. And I contend thehe is nothing before your honorable board."

OTHER CANDIDATES JOIN IN

David H. Fulton had filed an appearance as counsel for Harrigan, but at this point, John H. Backus of New Bedford, ex-director of the Blue Sky Division of the State Public Utilities Division, filed an appearance at the hearing as a rival candidate for attorney-general under the Democratic banner.

Then came Frank McKeown of Worcester, who likewise filed an appearance as an candidate.

With these skirmishes done, Atty. Fulton gravely surveyed the hearing room and said:

"I sympathize with Mr. Kelly in his desire not to be unsexed."

Chairman Joseph Conway then went into a huddle with James Hurley and Richard Comerford, asociate commisisoners, after which Conway announced the protest hearing would proceed, "tentatively," based on Harrigan's petition.

Kelly asked that his exceptions be saved. Nearly two dozen witnesses were sworn, amogn them Miss Elizabeth McCarthy, widely-known handwriting expert.

Plane Output Records Broken

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Warplane production topped its goal by 2 per cent in May, Charles E. Wilson reported today, with 8902 aircraft delivered to the armed forces and heavy bomber out described as "the most we ever got in a month."

Wilson, executive vice-chairman of the War Production Board and head of the Aircraft Production Board, said every high-urgency ship was delivered at or above scheduled rates.

Wilson declineed to specify the the number of heavy bombers produced, but said that for several months production has been "substantially" greater than the 1000 four-engined bombers reported in January. The new B-29 Superfortresses is included in the heavy bomber totals.

T/SERGT. HARRY McARDLE AND HIS MOTHER
South Boston Flier Home After 52 Missions

Boston Flier, Home, Says Worry a Peril

By ALICE BISSELL

No American aviator was ever licked by anything except too much thinking. Now that he's allowing himself some time for thinking, that's the conclusion arrived at by T/Sergt. Harry McArdle, 25, of East 8th st., South Boston, home on furlough after 13 months of bombing Europe.

"I guess it's because I learned that lesson that I gained weight over there and feel better than I ever did in my life," said the veteran of 52 raids over Rome, Salerno and Anzio.

To a world on edge at invasion time, the soldier brought a little advice he thought might help the nerves and morale of those at home:

"I have seen people worrying at home, worrying in South America, worrying in Africa and in Italy, but we learned that the only thing that will win the war and save a person is to do the job before you, and rest assured that the boys are doing just that.

"Your worry doesn't help them, and they have probably learned not to worry about home.

"We learned the lesson after the first few missions. There is only a period of five or ten minutes of danger. You know then you might be taking your last breath. It seems like 15 years.

"But that wasn't the rough pa.t. The rough part was back at the base, thinking.

"Sometimes we had a day off. We found ourselves brooding and losing courage. We'd wait to count the planes coming back, to see if any of our friends had gone. The only thing that saved us was that we were going back into action again.

"After a while we took it just like a regular job. At lunch we talked shop, as calm about the raid over Rome as we used to talk at home about the office.

"At night we didn't talk about the war and the state of the world. We talked about home and the wonderful things we had seen, even in the midst of danger. We felt we were lucky to see the great foreign places, Carthage, Pompeii, Corsica, and we tried to keep up our interest in the history of the places.

"When it's all over, those are the things you remember, how you flew over Vesuvius when it was erupting, and the look of Rome from 10,000 feet. We learned to live right in the present, and that's why the men had courage and never were licked by brooding.

"It's something all the boys have, and I hope everyone has it at home during the tough months to come. We hate to have our families worry.

"It's because our men can't be licked that wherever we went, the people smiled and said: 'Americano, Molto Bono, good man!'

"And wherever we went, our attitude seemed to give courage to the downtrodden and sad

Trust Laws Ruled To Cover Insurance

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Overruling a decision that has stood for 75 years, the Supreme Court held today insurance is business in interstate commerce, and is subject to the Sherman anti-trust act.

Justice Black wrote the court's 4-3 decision. Chief Justice Stone wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Frankfurter concurred. Justice Jackson also wrote an opinion in which he dissented in part. Justice Roberts and Reed took no part in the case.

The case specifically involved 196 stock fire insurance companies and 27 individuals connected with the Southeastern Underwriters' Ass'n in Florida, Alabama, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Anti-trust charges brought by the Justice Department were dismissed by the Federal District Court at Atlanta on the ground the Supreme Court had held for 75 years the business of insurance was not commerce.

Added interest was given the case by the fact legislation is pending before Congress to exempt insurance companies from the federal anti-trust legislation and to leave their regulation to the states.

Thirty-five states filed briefs urging the Supreme Court to hold insurance was not commerce and not subject to federal regulation.

In a 5-to-4 decision the court also ruled invalid an interpretation of the federal wage-hour administrator that companies handling farm products "within the area of production" are subject to the wage-hour act if they have more than seven employes.

Biddle in Hub Labor Address

Atty.-Gen. Biddle declared today a primary purpose of the "no strike" agreement was to prevent industry from using the war to destroy labor unions and to prohibit labor from fortifying itself at the expense of the war effort.

Addressing the convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union here, the Attorney-General asserted that Montgomery Ward's "defiance of the government cut under the national determination to settle labor disputes peaceably and finally.

"The Ward instance was the only one in which the government has been resisted," he said, "and I do not believe Ward's attitude is representative of the great majority of employers.

"Most employers today not only do not resist collective bargaining but welcome it as a more effective method, from the management viewpoint, of settling labor controversies."

Prior to his address, which was broadcast, Atty.-Gen. Biddle visited the Federal Building and conferred for an hour with U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon.

300 New Citizens Cautioned To Be Tolerant and to Vote

The first duty of an American is to be tolerant of his neighbor, Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, Jr., of federal court, told 300 naturalized citizens today.

Among those who received their final papers were a number of servicemen. As they left the courtroom, small American flags were pinned on them by members of an Americanization committee headed by Mrs. Hilda McStravick, American Legion Auxiliary chairman here in that field.

Judge Wyzanski pointed out to the new Americans they will have an opportunity this year to cast their ballots in a presidential election.

"It doesn't concern me who you vote for," he added. "But don't vote for any candidate just because someone tells you to. It is your duty to study the candidates and have an independent mind when you go to the polls."

In urging tolerance on his listeners, the judge told them: "Remember your neighbor and his family are the people who have made the United States a great country. Be understanding with them as you would have them be with you.

"If you came from Italy, remember one of our great cities, New York, has a mayor whose father was born in Italy.

"If you came from Ireland, remember John Barry, the father of the American Navy, who was a naturalized citizen.

"If you came from France, remember Gen. Lafayette, who did so much for the formation of our country during the Revolutionary War."

Threats Cited At Murder Trial

SALEM, June 5 — Charles R. O'Connor, 43, of Lynn, had threatened to "get" Christopher Curley, 53, for his attentions to Mrs. Melvina Snell, 38-year-old widow, Asst. Dist-Atty. John J. Ryan charged today O'Connor had beaten him to death with an iron pipe last February 18 in the widow's home.

Making his opening in O'Connor's trial before Judge Cabot and a jury in Essex County Superior court, Ryan declared the two men were rivals for the affections of Mrs. Snell. O'Connor is charged with murder in the second degree.

Ryan said O'Connor met Mrs. Snell in a bar in April, 1943, and that shortly after that he went to live in her home.

The following July, Ryan continued, he was picked up by the FBI as an Army deserter and, after finally obtaining his discharge, returned to find Curley was friendly with her.

On motion of Defense Atty. Atty. Francis E. Rafter, Judge Cabot and the jury visited the Echo pl., Lynn, home of Mrs. Snell to view the scene.

Urges Licensing Of Air Newsmen

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS) —Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado, today introduced an amendment to the Communications Act which would require the licensing of radio news commentators and their compliance with federal "code of ethics."

Provisions of the code are:

1. News shall be presented with fairness and accuracy.

Cabaret Tax Cut To 20 P. C. Agreed

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)— A House-Senate conference committee agreed today to cut back the cabaret tax from 30 to 20 per cent, but eliminated a provision exempting service men and women from the night club levy.

The group decided to put the national debt limit at $260,000,000,000 as originally requested by the Administration.

Action of the conference committee is subject to House and Senate votes.

OPA Food Chief Pledges Least Possible Rationing

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Walter F. Straub, director of the OPA Food Rationing Division, said today the nation would enjoy its current breathing spell in food rationing for an indefinite period and that no man knows just how long it will last.

In a prepared speech at the 46th annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers, Straub said the nation now was in the midst of the most quiet and peaceful period in the industry since rationing began.

"Just how long this breathing spell will last, no man knows," he declared. "The best rationed are the least rationed, and as long as conditions warrant it we shall continue on the same or an even more relaxed basis.

"When and if the supply situation changes, rather than face the hysteria and the unfairness to all of panic buying, needless hoarding . . . we may have to return to the rationing of 1943 and early 1944.

"It is my earnest hope that this may be avoided."

Straub made the following other assertions:

The decision to remove pork from rationing May 3 resulted from big hog runs, corn allocations and an imminent feed shortage, approach of warm weather, when buying declines, and a shortage of freezer storage space.

Lamb was not plentiful nationally, but was oversuplied in various regions, and rather than set up a regional ration point system it was removed from the list.

Less desirable beef cuts were removed from rationing so they might move normally against choice pork cuts.

Major canned vegetables were removed from rationing because the supply of the 1943 pack in retail, wholesale and processors' hands was sufficient to last until 1944 goods come in.

It is still necessary to ration sugar. The total amount allocated to OPA by the War Food Administration for 1944 will permit less than 80 pounds per person.

Clark Protest Vain On Kimmel, Short

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)— Over the protest of Sen. Clark (D.) of Missouri, who denounced as "all hokum" official statements immediate courts martial would interfere with the war, the Senate approved by a voive vote today a resolution extending for one year the period in which Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj.-Gen. Walter C. Short may be brought to trial in connection with the Pearl Harbor disaster.

2 Lowell Teachers, Janitor 'Disciplined' for Drinking

LOWELL, June 5—School Supt. Joseph F. Conway disclosed today he had "disciplined" two male high school teachers and a janitor for drinking.

Their cases are to be presented to the school committee at a meeting Thursday night, Conway stated.

He declined to reveal the details but said the janitor's alleged fall from grace did not occur during working hours.

Conway would not say whether this applied to the teachers. "What I've done, I've done," he added, "and I can't say any more about it until it has been considered by the school committee."

The superintendent's disclosure came after Mayor Woodbury F. Howard had let the matter slip out during testimony in Middlesex Superior Court, East Cambridge.

Howard, who is also chairman of the school committee, appeared in opposition to a petition by Vincent M. McCartin, who was demoted from superintendent, at $6000 a year, to teacher at $2900, last month. He asked for a restraining order against the mayor and committee, so he might continue as superintendent.

The mayor argued Conway was doing an adequate job as superintendent and said he was a good administrator, mentioning he had disciplined three school employes recently.

Judge Felix Forte said he was not certain the court had jurisdiction, but said he would act if counsel for McCartin could offer a precedent. Meanwhile he continued the case.

Ancients in Hub Street Parade

Picturesquely garbed members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, the nation's oldest military organization marched through Boston streets today in celebration of the 306th anniversary of its founding and held their annual drumhead election on Boston Common.

Joining with the Ancients in the parade and election ceremonies were members of military organizations from other parts of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and Connecticut, all costumed in the colorful uniforms of Revolutionary War days.

A luncheon at Faneuil Hall preceded the parade, which was headed by Capt. Frank G. Volpe, retiing head of the Ancients.

In the drumhead election, Lieut. Ichabod Bunker of Boston, was chosen to succeed Volpe as captain of the company for the coming year. Lieut. John C. Briaic of Newton, was elected first lieutenant and Harvey B. Leggee of Sharon was chosen second lieutenant.

The marchers paraded from Faneuil Hall through State, Washington and School sts., where they were joined at City Hall by Mayor Tobin, to Tremont and Park sts., to the State House, where Gov. Saltonstall entered the ranks.

From there the marchers plodded to the New Old South Church, Copley sq., for the annual memorial service before proceeding to the Boston Common for the drumhead election.

GI Bill Conferees Set to Resume

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 5—Work on the long-delayed GI Bill of Rights will be resumed tomorrow, a meeting of the conference committee having been called for 10 a. m. by Sen. Clark of Missouri who returned here today.

Rep. Rankin of Mississippi, head of the House group in the joint committee, announced that he was prepared to try to reach an agreement on the bill, which it is now hoped may be reported back to both branches this week.

Meantime American Legion officials held a meeting in their headquarters in K st., with former Gov. John Stelle of Illinois presiding. Nearly three hours were devoted to further study of the House and Senate versions of the veterans' rehabilitation measure, nad sub-committees were appointed to take each of the conflicting titles and write a brief on it in an effort to adjust differences. Briefs will be submitted to the committee today.

Business Has 'Cure' For Government Ills

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—A complete overhauling of the federal government, particularly its tax laws, to streamline it for winning the war and to promote postwar prosperity was proposed today by the Commerce and Industry Association of New York.

The program was worked out by a group headed by Fred I. Kent, director of the Bankers Trust Co., and chairman of the association's postwar committee.

The recommendations of the group urged:

1—Keep war expenditures "as low as possible" and cut spending for other purposes "drastically."

2—Revise federal fiscal policy and develop taxes "that will not handicap our war effort nor impair the future economic prosperity of the nation." Among 15 specific tax recommendations were a sales tax for any further revenue increase, reduction of corporate taxes, levy on government corporations, revision of capital and excess profits taxes.

3—Co-ordinate federal, state and local tax systems.

4—Eliminate federal activities not essential to war or to future economic welfare.

5—Eliminate federal branches which compete with business.

6—Restrict functions of federal agencies.

8—Rewrite Wagner labor act and other labor legislation into a single law in which "relations between government, labor, industry and the public are fully protected."

9—Revise Social Security program.

10—Revise farm legislation.

11—State Legislatures should repeal laws "which set up uneconomic interstate trade barriers."

12—Clarify anti-trust laws.

13—"International agreements on monetary policy should be entered into by the federal government as soon as international political and economic conditions permit."

14—"Gold should be restored to its proper place in the monetary systems of the world."

15—"International trade agreements should be entered into for the purpose of encouraging foreign trade and promoting economic peace."

16—"Unpaid Allied debts of World War I due the United States should be cancelled by legislation."

Italy

to act when the Allies entered Rome.)

Associated Press Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported that wherever the Americans moved they found Italians—of all ages and degrees of poverty—ready to die for "the liberation."

"Why were you so long coming? We expected you four months ago," said some of the Partisans.

"I'll bet there are enough Fascist party badges in the Tiber today to make the fish sick," one officer told him.

Near the San Lorenzo railyards in Rome the Partisans shrilly warned of a German 88 about 200 yards behind the next corner. Light tanks swerved and hit it from the rear while weeping mothers murmured blessings, kissed the hands of the tank destroyer crewmen and lifted up their children to be kissed on the cheek, said De Luce.

A tubby German captain in new field gray uniform stood against the wall, the prisoner of two sightseeing French officers who had surprised him in a truck on a side street, said the AP man. Italians shrieked curses at the German as he blinked owl-like through horn-rimmed spectacles.

Although first reports from Rome were scanty concerning damage in the city, a number of demolitions were carried out by the Germans. Dispatches said the Fiat factory had been the scene of one such demolition, while efforts also apparently were made to wreck gas, electric and water utilities.

AIM TO DESTROY NAZIS

Allied headquarters announced at noon the occupation of Rome by the Fifth Army last night, and thus was realized one of the main objectives when Gen. Sir Harold Alexander started the huge Allied offensive May 11.

The other main objective, destruction of the German 10th and 14th armies, remained to be carried out, and towards this objective the Fifth and Eighth armies pressed today.

Fighter-bombers hammered away at the fleeing German columns, leaving congested highways to the north littered with dead and wounded, as well as smashed vehicles.

The Fifth Army tore off and chewed up additional chunks of the disorganized Nazi forces which had tried vainly to stem the advance on the Italian capital long enough to hold open an escape route for hard-pressed troops in the shredded defense line south of the city.

1200 VEHICLES RUINED

The danger to Field Marshal Kesselring's forces still facing the left flank of the Fifth Army between Rome and the seacoast grew steadily.

The main escape route of these forces was lost when Clark's armor and infantry crashed through the defensive screen on the outskirts of Rome and swarmed into the city, where they met only sporadic resistance.

Prisoners taken in the 25-day-old all-out offensive passed well over the 20,000 mark. In relentless strafing and bombing the tactical air force had destroyed or damaged 1200 German trucks and other vehicles.

Eleven Allied aircraft were missing and two enemy planes were downed.

The widely-acclaimed entry into Rome—climax of nine months of hard fighting in Italy—was accompanied by fresh gains in other sectors of the front.

Palestrina, astride an important retreat road north of the Via Casilina four and a half miles north of Valmontone, was cleared of the enemy.

At the same time the Eighth Army drove the enemy completely out of the Sacco valley, clearing the towns of Fiuggi, Piglio, Paliano, Guarcino and Cave.

ROUT GOERING DIVISION

An official account of the drive into Rome said:

"Reconnaissance elements entered the southeastern outskirts of the city at two points about 8 a. m. and 9 a. m., respectively, and a few hours later had pushed on to within its official limits.

"The principal break-through toward Rome was made in a sector defended by the Hermann Goering Division, which fought vainly in North Africa and Sicily as well to stay the Allied advance.

"One American force moving forward from the southeast, generally along Highway 6, advanced nearly eight miles, then met stiff resistance from the enemy on the eastern outskirts.

"Elements severed Highway 5 at the northeastern entrance to Rome. Meanwhile an advance group pushed on into the outskirts to the southeast at 9 a. m.

"Three miles due east of Rome, stubborn enemy defenses were met, with leading tanks encountering many mines.

"Other Fifth Army forces meanwhile had moved forward to points four miles south of Rome and Highway 7."

Rome Fall Speeds War Effort Here

With the glad tidings that Rome is in the hands of the Allies assimilated, Bostonians today buckled down to their civilian tasks of aiding in the downfall of Berlin and Tokio.

Upwards of a million persons here heard with joy the announcement that the Allies had entered the Eternal City. Most of them received the great news from Mayor Tobin, who twice broadcast it over the 22 loud speakers scattered throughout the city.

The Mayor acted in co-operation with the Boston American-Daily Record-Sunday Advertiser. The news went over the system installed to give air raid signals.

It is safe to say no message it bore was received with more rapt attention than the news that the great center of Christendom was in Allied hands.

Many of those who heard the good news were lining the route of the parade of the Boston schoolboy cadets. The first broadcast was made at 2:45 p. m. Later the Mayor gave a second broadcast at 6:25 p. m. giving additional details of the triumphant entry of Allied armies into the besieged city.

This information was supplied to him in news bulletins hot off the wire from the editorial rooms of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

Italian service units at the Boston Port of Embarkation, consisting of former prisoners of war, were at first skeptical but, assured that the news was true, greeted it with cheers and then with songs.

At the North End the reaction appeared to be that the news was fine—very good indeed.

3 in Police Net Have Novel Pipe Dreams

Cats smoke catnip cigarettes.

When the heel of your shoe is loose, the only proper thing to do is break into a parked auto and steal a bunch of tools to mend it with.

Didn't you know that when the yen to go driving in the country is really bad, everything goes black, and you'd konk watchmen over the head and steal trucks to make your dream come true?

"Tell it to the judge!" shouted Lieut. James V. Crowley today as he whisked three men and their novel alibis off to Municipal Court from the lineup at police headquarters.

Charged with bringing marihuana cigarettes and leaves from New York to Boston, a 25-year-old New York colored man explained to Crowley it was catnip tea, and that a soldier called "Smitty" wanted it badly.

"Did you put a few rolled cigarettes in with the tea?" asked Crowley.

"I did," said the man.

"Confidentially," asked Crowley, "did you ever hear of a cat smoking catnip tea cigarettes?"

"I can't rightly say no," said the prisoner.

Crowley then turned to a 25-year-old lunchroom worker of Bowdoin st., Dorchester, who was crouched down in the lineup, madly pulling at the heel of his shoe.

Charged with stealing accessories from autos, he was caught early today in a Newbury st. parking lot.

"We'd be a lot of heels if we believed that story," said Crowley when the man told how he needed to fix his shoe and the only thing to do was to steal a hammer from a car.

"Anyway, which heel was it?" asked Crowley.

The man wasn't quite sure today, and Crowley wasn't convinced.

Next in line was a 20-year-old Norfolk ave., Dorchester, youth, held as a suspicious person after the stolen laundry truck he was driving overturned.

Weak and on crutches, he and his 17-year-old accomplice of Rupert ave., Roxbury, both told Crowley that "everything went black."

They said they just found themselves walking through a window of a garage, then walking up and down the corridors, hitting the 73-year-old watchman twice over the head with a flashlight, and stealing the truck.

"I didn't have a license, but we wanted to go riding so badly," said the Dorchester man.

Mrs. Elwell, daughter of Lieut.-Gen. Adna Chaffee, former U. S. Army chief of staff, was born in Kansas and educated in New York and Washington.

Sacred Statue Is Goering Loot

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, June 5 (AP)—The theft of a costly altar statue from the Benedictine Abbey at Cassino for Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has been proven by an order of the day issued on May 28 by Lieut. Gen. Richard Heidrich, commander of the German first parachute division, an official Allied source said today.

The order said: "I have sent a deputation to the reichsmarshal . . . The deputation took with them as a present from the division to the reichsmarshal, a costly altar statue taken from the Cassino Abbey by one battalion of the Third parachute regiment. The reichsmarshal received our delegation in Berlin on May 25. He evinced great pleasure at the gift of the First parachute division."

V-Gardeners Face Insect Battle Now

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Home Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record-American-Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Along with the drouth, home gardeners now have insects to deal with.

Hot dry weather brings the usual insect pests and plants are less able to resist them. Flea-beetles, cucumber beetles and bean beetles are getting in their damage.

Bean beetles are already present. The few adults working may not seem serious, but they are laying eggs which will soon hatch and cause serious damage. Watch your bean crop and dust with rotenone of magnesium arsenate dust. Wet sprays are also practical if you have the equipment.

The cucumber beetle will soon appear. It attacks all vine crops and unless controlled will do considerable damage. It is absolutely necessary for V-Gardeners to control this insect as it carries bacterial wilt, a serious disease of cucumbers. This disease is spread from one plant to another by insects and is fatal.

As soon as the first leaves appear either spray or dust your squash and cucumber with rotenone or a neutral copper dust with arsenate added.

The success you have in getting plants to grow during dry weather depends on how they are set. If possible, set plants late in the day and water well. If the wind is strong it may even be practical to shade and protect them for several days. There are a lot of tomato plants that have been set recently that are being damaged by careless planting and hot weather.

READ DIRECTIONS

Follow directions that come with spray materials.

Today there are numerous brands of insecticides available for gardeners. These are put up in small packages with directions. They also usually tell what crops to use them on. When buying insecticides read labels carefully and follow directions in mixing if you want good results. Remember also that most insects work on the underneath side of the leaf so that is where the spray or dust should be applied.

Fortunes

now," she began glibly, although I had never been calmer in my life. "I see two men who love you, one dark, the other a medium blond. The blond is the luckiest for you . . . But we don't always love the ones who are the luckiest, do we? I know that. Sometimes we love the one who causes us the most distress. We do, yes, I know we do."

PIN GIVES CUE

It was increasingly hot in the gloomy little room, and I tossed my coat back. As I did so, the medium got a better glimpse of the little service pin nearly hidden in a fold of my lapel. She veered her line of chatter sharply.

"The moment you came into the room, before you even cut the cards, I could see that you are worried about someone overseas in the service. Don't ask me how I knew. I just know these things. That is why I'm able to help you. He is far, far away from you. Farther than you think. But you mustn't be distressed.

"I see some illness for him. We don't like to think of malaria and those things, but we have to face them, don't we? But he's not wounded. I can definitely tell you he's not wounded. I want you to believe that. I like to know that I've helped my people.

"You haven't heard from him in a long time, have you? Well, you will. You will soon. I see a letter, and I can promise you that you'll get your letter within three to five weeks. I think you will get it sooner, yes, I do, but it won't be any longer than that," she said.

The woman had me shuffle the cards again, and again took my hands.

"I hope you won't be shocked by this," she almost whispered. "I, myself, am conservative, but I'm a broadminded woman, and my spirit forces me to tell you this.

"I see two men very strongly concerned in your life. I don't necessarily say an intrigue, but there is someone who loves you a great deal. Someone besides your husband. I see you marrying him," she said.

ADMITS SHE'S "GOOD"

Asked for a time limit on the remarriage, she said, "This will surprise you, but I can positively say within 18 months. I'm very good on times. All my people say so."

Another marriage also was forecast for my companion, who, like me, had assumed the role of a soldier's bride.

"I see in your cards the possibility of another marriage," she told my friend. "Mind you, I don't say that it will actually happen, because I know that you're very much in love with your husband. But I see around you two men, and one of these men has been very much interested in you, and still is. You're going to see him again very soon. I have many good things in store for you."

And so, thinking us servicemen's wives, and thinking those men were fighting for their lives and country overseas, she not only condoned unfaithfulnes to our marriage vows, but the shedding of established marriage obligations and the donning of new ones.

Another Boston fortune teller as much in demand as unrationed butter is a thin, blonde woman of about 60, who has a cozy, overheated, and Grand Rapids-styled apartment. She is genial and housewifey, and when Pauline Warren and I buzzed her bell, was busy alternating appointments with "minding the baby" while her daughter did some shopping.

A well dressed customer was being ushered out as we entered, and by the time the youthful-appearing grandmother finished my reading, five other housewives were awaiting their turn in the living room. While Pauline was in the sanctum sanctorum, I answered the phone and doorbell, which rang constantly. All the calls were from women wishing appointments.

Her reading is on the cheery side, and, although her fortune-telling was minus, she may have a genuine gift of mind-reading, for the "names" she "saw around me" were the McCoy, which startled me exceedingly.

"SEES" NAMES

The first was—"Who is Eddie, or Edward? No, it seems to be Edwin. I keep seeing the name Edwin in connection with you." That, of course, is my spouse's seldom-used, correct name. A little later in the reading she said, "I seem to see the name Helen all around you, very close to you."

Other names she "saw around me" included Walter, my father's name; Warren, the name of my brother-in-law, and Kitty, the name of a friend and co-worker.

Misled by the big Navy pin on my suit lapel, she guessed, "I see someone you love very dearly, who is in a Navy uniform. Your husband. He is somewhere on the water, but don't worry about him. I see lots of good luck all around him."

Pauline Warren's reading was equally colorless, although the seer foretold "a surprise from the West," and "two men who like you." She saw "bright and cheerful prospects, success, and a good deal more money" for Pauline.

The names she pulled from her mental hat for Pauline were of no particular interest. But then, she couldn't hit the jackpot every time.

This friendly woman is entertaining, and does little or no harm. In that she is a gem among the psychics.

Tomorrow Pauline Warren will tell about her visit to another boastful fortune teller who dispenses heartbreaks and gloom.

Bricker Gain on Eastern Swing Claimed

COLUMBUS, O., June 5 (AP)—Robert Barton, secretary of Gov Bricker, said today he believed the Governor "gained many delegates" during a 10-day Eastern swing that took him to the Governors' conference at Hershey, Pa., and to states along the seaboard.

Barton told a press conference the Governor, who is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, had a "very satisfactory trip" and talked to many delegates in all states visited "and was met with much enthusiasm."

He added that Connecticut delegates, after conferring with Bricker, met in a closed session and resolved that none of its members should be bound to any candidate until the full delegation had considered the candidate.

Barton announced four speeches Bricker will make in the next 10 days. Friday he will speak from 10:45 to 11 p. m, eastern war time, over the National Broadcasting Co.'s network, and the next night will appear in New York with Gov. J. Melvin Broughton of North Carolina on the Columbia broadcasting system's network from 6:15 to 6:45 p. m. on "The People's Forum."

Tuesday, June 13, he will speak from Washington from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. on Mutual's "American Forum on the Air." The following night he will address the 78th Club, a group of Republican Congressmen.

Excessive Taxation

THE CONTROVERSY between the United States Senate and the House of Representatives over the Cabaret Tax involves a principle of deeper significance than the immediate issue.

In the main, the Senate's insistence upon reduction of the prevailing 30 per cent tax reflects the objection of the entertainment industry to an excessive tax which is considered exorbitant.

On the other hand, the persistence of the House in supporting this high tax reflects the determination of the Treasury Department to match excessive Federal expenditures in wartime with excessive tax levies.

The significant issue here is in the fact that the Senate has sensed a fundamental truth about excessive taxation which the general public is beginning to understand, but which the Treasury Department and the House of Representatives stubbornly refuse to acknowledge.

The evidence is irrefutable that the excessive and actually confiscatory tax imposed upon the entertainment industry in this instance has not resulted in more revenue for the Government but substantially LESS revenue.

Senator Downey of California reported to his colleagues in this connection that tax revenues under the high levy against night clubs and restaurants had fallen off 70 PER CENT in his state.

The Government and Congress and the people must recognize and ACCEPT the fact that any tax raised to the point of diminishing returns is dangerous and harmful.

It fails to fulfill its only legitimate and reasonable purpose—the provision of sufficient money for Government enterprise.

It brings on a condition of paralysis and suffocation in essential and useful and wholesome private enterprise.

While failing to fill the coffers of the Government, IT EMPTIES THE POCKETS OF THE PEOPLE.

While failing to sustain the legitimate and necessary functions of government, IT CRIPPLES AND DESTROYS THE VITAL FUNCTIONS OF INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS, thus not merely suppressing services indispensable to the people but actually depriving the people of employment.

That is what happened to the entertainment industry as the result of a tax so high that operators could not pay it and stay in business.

IT HAS ALWAYS been the fixed policy of the New Deal Administration to tax excessively, indifferent to the harmful effect of such taxation and indeed contemptuous of the plight of the taxpayer. The New Deal Treasury Department is arrogantly pursuing this policy in the case of the excessive Cabaret Tax.

The House of Representatives is blindly supporting the policy in the same instance. The Senate itself is only partially awake to the danger.

Only the American people, the taxpayers, the business men and the wage earners of the country, are acutely aware of the danger, the harm and the evil of a national tax policy which stifles the productive and employing enterprise of the country upon which the people depend for jobs and livelihood.

Taxation should be imposed against the people, against their industries and jobs and wages, in a manner that will not only SUPPORT their government but that will also ENCOURAGE and PROMOTE PRODUCTION AND EMPLOYMENT rather than discourage and impair and ultimately destroy these things which are so vital to the people.

A government which ignores the interests of the people in this essential matter is not faithful or efficient in its service to the people.

And the New Deal Government is characteristically and consistently and callously indifferent to the great harm done the people by excessive taxation.

WASHINGTON, June 5—I simply do not know what is going to happen to the Hon. Harold L. Ickes if he persists in sticking his snoot into other people's affairs.

He has two black eyes now, and yet he is still horsing around, looking for more trouble.

This time he is trying to get the "ayes" of Texas down upon him. And he is succeeding very well because he has Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, and other transplanted Texans hereabouts, practically frothing at the mouth.

The Honorable Ickes gives his home State as Illinois. There is, of course, nothing reprehensible about being from Illinois. The only point is that he is not from Texas—which may be something that State has done nothing to deserve, but is nevertheless a fact.

By a majority vote, the Texas State Democratic convention decided to send its delegates to the national convention uninstructed. But, instead of abiding by the majority vote, the Roosevelt forces broke away and formed a separate delegation.

Of course, one delegation or the other will be tossed overboard in Chicago, because no State can have two accredited delegations. But in the meantime, the schism has caused a great deal of bitter feeling.

The Texas minority, having failed to ram its program down the majority throat, now is running around screaming:

"We wuz robbed!"

The late Joe Jacobs, of prize-fight fame, never did better, although he is credited with having originated the famous beef.

WELL, YOU might think this would be one controversy Ickes would pass up. But not Harold. He has jumped into it, right up to his neck.

Ickes used to have an Undersecretary of the Interior named Alvin J. Wirtz. He had to get rid of him because Mr. Wirtz is almost as much of a troublemaker as Harold, and Washington couldn't take both.

Anyway, Mr. Wirtz was one of the run-outs at the Texas convention. And, after taking the powder, he wrote a long letter to Harold, the gist of which was that everybody who voted for an uninstructed delegation was a crook, or worse.

Harold had copies of this letter made and began handing them out where they would do the most good or, rather, harm. He invariably counseled the recipient against telling where it came from, but he saw that the thing got wide distribution.

I have a copy of that letter at hand. I will not tell where I got it, either, but it wasn't from Ickes.

Mr. Wirtz begins by charging that the Texas business was the initial move in a sinister plot to blast democracy at its roots. The foul plan, he said, is to select Democratic electors who will refuse to cast their votes for Roosevelt, even if the convention "drafts" him.

Mr. Wirtz puts a very heavy slug on George Butler, chairman of the State Executive Committee, who happens to be the favorite nephew of Jesse Jones. He charges that Butler worked it so "no Roosevelt man and no friend of the Administration and no one of liberal views" got on any of the county delegations.

"The underlying purpose," Wirtz wrote to Ickes, "is to seize the reins of government from the people and set up a Fascist state . . . I saw (at the convention) representatives of Pew, Sinclair, Standard Oil, Ford, Electric Bond & Share, and other big concerns.

"After their triumph here, when their tongues were loosened by a few drinks, they boasted they had similar plans . . . in Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina."

Author Wirtz makes slighting references to what he calls the "Will Clayton interests," Mr. Clayton being Assistant Secretary of Commerce. The writer does not reveal how Secretary Jones' nephew and assistant worked their machinations, except to say "it was rumored that large sums of money were contributed."

Having accused the majority delegates with practically everything except parking beside a fire plug, Mr. Ickes' pet correspondent, concludes:

"I would like very much to have your own personal reaction."

---

THE PARTY from whom I got my copy of the letter attached this note:

"This may be a clue to why Honest Harold gets crowned. He passed this out in the hope of starting trouble. That's the way to get it, I hear."

I have heard some screwy plot rumors in my time but this one about getting electors who will not cast their ballots for the man they were elected to elect is positively tops.

WONDERFUL to behold is the adoration of the fans of Sinatra. However, it is exceeded in intensity by that of the fans of Sergt. Gene Autry. Autry has more loyal followers than any star in the history of the film industry, Valentino not excepted. Gene is a regular fellow and a great entertainer. Can't think of a thing with which to reproach him. Even if I go into action. If a word of reproach were uttered of their idol, they would rush to the office of the critic and tear the building down.

ASIDES: "As for Horses and Women," writes a New Yorker, "we are to some extent protected by being able to study the past performances of the horses. Think of the grief many of us would have been spared and the money we could have saved if we only had a chance to study the past performances of some of the women we trusted" . . . "If there is a paper shortage," asks a Californian, "why is it so many restaurants and fountain lunches still use paper cups and paper dishes?"

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Is it not a fact the snood originated in the United States in the 1880s? A—Couldn't say. I wouldn't take a chance on betting a stogie I know the difference between a snood, a wimple and a babushka. However, have asked our Horses & Women Department to look into this matter. Incidentally, snood is a funny name for a bit of headgear. Sounds like the name of a Danish fish . . . Q—You mention "Ben White, America's Horse Trainer No. 1." Don't you mean Ben Jones? A—Of course I do. I know Ben Jones well. Have often watched races with him, but every now and then I call him Ben White. Just one of those things. Same thing happens to other fellows. I have known Harry Sherman, the film producer, for over 20 years. He knows my name is Ed. But half the time he calls me "Bob" or "Bill."

LITTLE MEN: He was a little over five feet in height and weighed only 120 yet was the champion lion hunter of East Africa. That was Alfred J. Klein, who recently passed on at an advanced age. Mr. Klein spent most of his life hunting lions, but died in bed. He always said a small man could stand the jungle better than a big one. The big fellows were more likely to succumb to fevers and other jungle ills. Wonder how this works out with our fighting forces in the jungles? Are the little guys in the Southwest Pacific taking it better than big fellows? If so, perhaps we should have regiments of pint-sized men for jungle troops. This discussion also brings forcibly to mind that most of the Japs fighting in the jungles are little men.

PLEASE NOTE: "She was once named Chicago's Career Girl No. 1." "She is an amazing combination of beauty and brains." "She's a green-eyed goddess." "She has a mind like a whip." These are excerpts from an eight-page letter a Chicago bachelor has written entirely in praise of Marion Odmark, magazine publisher. Evidently, the lady in question is a bit on the super duper side. Will have my Horses & Women Department check on her. A women with "A mind like a whip" might have some real inside information on women in general. She might also know something about horses.

Only suggestion I can think of is that she make out a list of costumes and have the prospective guests draw lots as to what they will wear. # Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 5—Erich Pommer, one-time high mogul of UFA productions in Berlin, became an American citizen last week and celebrated by signing for two pictures with Producers Corporation of America.

Years ago, before the world went crazy, I met Pommer in Berlin and at that time asked him if he ever intended to make a follow-up on his sensational "Cabinet of Dr. Caligari." "Some time—maybe," he replied, and sure enough, "The New Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" will be one of two films he will make for the Sig Schlager company.

The first Pommer picture to go before the cameras is "This Crazy, Lovely World," a play by Ladislaus Fodor, which PCA bought for the funny figure of $101,000—and don't forget that thousand! It seems Fodor insists on getting a little more for each property he sells and since his last yarn sold for $100,000 he insisted on this extra grand.

WHILE MIKE TODD was in Hollywood he did a bit of business. He sold Leo Spitz and William Goetz the rights to "Pick Up Girl," which is doing a good business on Broadway as one of the current hits. The price reported paid is $50,000 and 50 per cent of the movie profits, which sounds to me like a bit of Todd luck. The story is one that deals with child delinquency and was produced at a small cost, and the picture shouldn't cost too much to make.

DINAH SHORE, who is adored by all the men in the services, has an interesting assignment at the Walt Disney studio. She'll sing in "Swing Street," the history of modern music that Walt plans to make with Benny Goodman's orchestra. Who, better than Dinah, could sing those torchy songs One of her numbers is to be "Silhouette," written for her by Charles Wolcott and Ray Gilbert. She says she is very excited about "Silhouette" and describes it as a semi-rhumba, but very ballad-y. Walt tells me "Swing Street" is to be a fantasy in color.

RICHARD JAECKEL, having reached the required age to enter the Merchant Marine, said adieu to his 20th contract for $500 a week and has been sworn in. There was never a doubt in Jaeckel's mind he wanted a job for Uncle Sam on the sea, just as soon as he was old enough to be accepted. Richard, who is the son of Mrs. Millicent Jaeckel and The late Richard Jaeckel, came to this writer about two years ago and asked for a job. The late Bill Koenig started him in the shipping department, and it was while he was earning $10 a week that Bryan Foy signed him for "Guadalcanal Diary." From then on, Jaeckel was a success as an actor.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: A Slapsy Maxie story to end all Slapsy Maxie epics is told by Billy Gilbert. Billy was discussing books with Monsieur Rosenbloom and said, "Maxie, who are your favorite authors?" Maxie replied: "Damon Runyon and Mark Twain." "Don't you like O. Henry?" queried Gilbert. "No, I don't," said Maxie, "the peanuts get in my teeth."

HONEST TO goodness, the following "ad" appeared in a local publication—and you know it could happen only in Hollywood. The "ad" reads: "For sale—beautiful hillside home with unobstructed view of movie star taking a sunbath every morning. Large living room ideal for entertaining friends who never think of reciprocating. The master bedroom in 18 x 38 which gives you plenty of room to pace the floor at night worrying about the $10,000 mortgage which can stay on the place if you want to buy it. The owner has spared no expense on this place and has spent many happy years in it living beyond his means. The house sounds massive—but one wife can handle it—also $20,000 cash above the mortgage."

Flynn, Lukas Star in Drama

War, like politics, can make strange bedfellows. In "Uncertain Glory," starring Errol Flynn and Paul Lukas at the Paramount and Fenway, the Warner Brothers explore the theory with an unusual tale of two men—a prisoner and his jailor—who combine their several talents, both legal and illegal, to outwit their common enemy.

Against a background of France in defeat and humiliation under Nazi occupation, "Uncertain Glory" pursues in detail five days in the lives of a French criminal and the police inspector who has hounded him for 25 years and finally captured him.

Errol Flynn plays Jean Picard, the criminal who, ironically and against his will, becomes one of the heroes of his country about which he had never thought twice.

Paul Lukas, Academy Award winner for his unforgettable performance in "Watch On the Rhine," as Inspector Bonnet of the French Surete finally captures his elusive quarry only to taste an empty victory.

Both together, under any other circumstances an impossible combination, as Frenchmen united against their enemy find a way to release one hundred innocent hostages held by the Nazis for an unsolved act of sabotage.

Also in top roles in the new film are Lucile Watson, veteran stage and screen actress, last seen in the role of Bette Davis' lovable mother in "Watch on the Rhine;" and lovely young Jean Sullivan whom Warners are introducing as a brand new bidder for stardom in her first film role. She plays the feminine lead opposite Errol Flynn.

Others in an excellent supporting cast include Faye Emerson, last seen as the only feminine member of the cast of "Destination Tokyo;" Douglas Dumbrille, Dennis Hoey, Sheldon Leonard, Odette Myrtil, Francis Pierlot, Victor Kilian and Ivan Triesault.

Musical Program For Freedom Pageant

Songs of the Underground, banned in Europe's invaded countries, will be heard in the United Nations Association-sponsored musical pageant, "Let Freedom Ring," to be presented in Symphony Hall on Sunday evening, June 18.

More than 10 gaily costumed national groups will participate in the singing. Choirs of Perkins Institute for the Blind, the Apollo Club and the Home Front Chorus of Stoneham will join in singing a special arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." William M. Agar, former Columbia professor, will give an introductory talk. The narrative accompanying the pageant, which Faye Roope wrote and directed, will be given by Gordon Leach.

Canadian Pulp Shortage Cut Spurs New Drive for Salvage Here

Recent diversion of one of Canada's largest pulp manufacturing plants to manufacture of nitro-cellulose will materially reduce New England's wood pulp supply and makes additional salvage of waste paper imperative, it was announced here by John T. Kiley, regional salvage manager of the War Production Board.

With the demands for paper products for the military constantly increasing, it was stated that business concerns and householders must redouble their efforts if this crisis is to be met.

How to Step Up ENERGY

How This Energy-Charged Wonder Bread Can Give You All The Extra Energy You Want

Contains Vitamins of the B Complex and Iron Your Body Needs To Help Get All The Energy Out of It

As you know, energy comes only from the food you eat. Thus, to get more energy—eat more energy food.

To get energy out of food, Nature must have the help of Vitamins $B_1$ and $B_2$ and Iron.

The two vitamins help to oxidize the food in the cells to get the energy out of it. The iron in your blood acts to bring the oxygen to the cells.

Study the chart. Then eat the extra number of slices of energy-charged Wonder Bread every day to get the extra amount of energy you want.

GET VITAMINS, IRON

When you eat energy-charged Wonder Bread you know it contains Vitamins $B_1$ and $B_2$ and iron which you know are necessary to help Nature transform it into energy properly.

And only Wonder Bread is sold under $1,000 guarantee of continual tests of Vitamin $B_1$ content.

Only WONDER BREAD Makes This $1,000 Vitamin $B_1$ Guarantee

Regular laboratory tests of typical loaves of Wonder White Bread show an average Vitamin $B_1$ content substantially in excess of the minimum requirements as recommended for bread by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

We will pay $1,000 to any charitable organization named by the citizen of the United States first to disprove the above statement.

Continental Baking Co., Inc.

DOUBLY FRESH

Because Wonder Bread is slo-baked—15% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

For extra energy, eat extra slices of energy-charged Wonder Bread every day. Serve your husband and children extra Wonder Bread, too.

Mint Cleansing Cream Helps All Skins

Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

WHETHER YOU TAKE your mint in a tall, frosted glass of julep . . . or as an added epicurean pinch in a chocolate ice-cream soda (try it sometime) . . . mint flavoring is tops in my culinary book. And to have it in a cleansing cream . . . a light, hand-whipped facial renovator . . . is truly something out of this world . . . where the cook book ends and cosmetic science begins.

In these hot days when coolth and comfort is the ultimate goal of your pursuits . . . an extremely light cleansing cream . . . that tends to soothe while it refreshingly cleanses . . . is of particular interest and definite need . . . for the gals who care for their face for the sake of their appeal.

And, as you apply this whipped-cream lusciousness generously over your face . . . your sensitive, quivering nostrils will inhale a mint fragrance . . . a component ingredient of this cream that has definite cooling qualities . . . and your face will love you for it.

NOURISHES THE SKIN

Most of us seek so-called soap and water cleanliness in warm days of over-active respiratory glands . . . although most of our facial tissue can't take soap and water harshness, besides the drying effects of Old Sol. This light cream . . . especially blended for hot-day effectiveness . . . gives that immediate feeling . . . while simultaneously it digs deeply into the pores . . . cleanses them and nourishes the skin into supple softness and placid-like smoothness.

And, after it is removed with a damp, warm cloth . . . or tissue (if you still can get some) . . . your eyes-have-told-me-so countenance looks as refreshed as though an electric fan had cooled it into gracious repose. This preparation is one of the best in a long line sponsored by a beautician . . . recognized as one of the greatest authorities on skin care.

This special formula, mint-flavored and refreshment cleansing cream is hers alone . . . and your face will take to it like your palate does to a cooling, summertime salad. If all this sounds like a rave . . . it was planned to be.

For the name of this hand-whipped, mint cleansing cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NO SMALL WONDER RKO Starlet Kim Hunter is a lovely new film find . . . for added to her hazel eyes and brown hair . . . she has a skin divine . . . which even in summer-time is as fresh and cool looking as her whole being. A mint-flavored cleansing cream . . . used generously on the face . . . will impart a mint freshness to your complexion.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday — Friday afternoon I went out to St. Elizabeth's Hospital to see the work which the Arts and Skills Corps of the American Red Cross is carrying on with the patients there.

There are men and women from all the various services at St. Elizabeth's, as well as their regular patients.

This hospital, as you may know, is the only federal hospital for mental cases, and therefore I have always felt that it should be a model for all the state hospitals throughout the nation.

The work with clay and with paints everywhere was most interesting, and some of the weaving and embroidery, as well as the sewing and block printing which the women patients are doing is outstanding. I am very glad the Red Cross is carrying on this work and hope that the program will be developed in all mental hospitals.

AT 5 O'CLOCK a group of Chinese students came in to see the White House and were photographed at the same spot on the south lawn where Mme. Chiang Kai-shek was photographed.

Friday evening I had the great pleasure of dining and sitting peacefully in the garden back of Secretary and Mrs. Morgenthau's house while we talked of many things.

At 10 o'clock on Saturday morning I went to the Navy Relief Society office, and I was pleasantly surprised to see how much the work has expanded.

The amount of activities which are carried on seem amazing to me. Navy Relief will meet almost any emergency which happens to a sailor or his family—and they also include officers in this service.

ON MY RETURN, I struggled for an hour over a radio talk which I am going to give in Spanish. When I heard of Mr. Wallace landing in Siberia and giving a speech in Russian, I felt that I am a poor student to have accomplished so little with my Spanish.

BRIEFED to a comfortable minimum is this sun-warmed slip of a dress of white waffle pique with giant rose print border . . . stunning for patio informal entertaining . . . or for amateur beachcombing. You'll be seeing a great deal of this bare-shoulder model now that King Sol is beaming his burning brightest . . . and if it's a coolth you want . . . this here nifty number is for you. Columbia star Janet Blair models it to perfection . . . and the ankle-tie wedgies. —R. M.

With Mother Best Plan

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My husband is in the service, and we have two children of four and two years of age. My compensation is sufficient to maintain a home. Do you think it would be better for me to rent a little house, which I could easily do, and live alone with my children, or would it be better to live with relatives? Living with relatives wouldn't be so pleasant, because they usually want to interfere.

Don't you think it would be fairer to the children and better for my peace of mind if I took a small house for us?

It's a better plan for children to be in a home of their own than with relatives who have different ideas from the parents', as to their upbringing.

As you find your compensation ample for maintaing a home, I agree with you that it's better to live apart from relatives.

Bad Smoking Habits

In these days, when furniture and furnishings are precious and often irreplaceable, you should be particularly careful always to rest your cigarette on an ash tray. There's a nice guest!—MRS. BEECKMAN.

All-Weather Ensemble

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SOPHIE, shining light in our American custom designer world, has designed an all-weather ensemble. I mean, of course, all-summer weather ensemble. She may have thought about the ladies who are going to make the coming political conventions a fashion event, for she pairs a comfortable coat with a dress that is next to nothing in weight. And, the conventions may provide both cool and super-heated weather.

Miss Dulin has sketched this outfit. The loose, casual coat is emerald green wool, with patch pockets and clever, rounded revers. The dress is made of striped chiffon in white, green and rose, very soft shades. It is a shirt-waist type of dress with a floppy tie and buttons down the front of the waist. The patch pockets on the skirt repeat those of the coat.

NEW YORK, June 5—Pat Di Cicco and Gloria Vanderbilt will move to a western state until he regains his health . . . Dorothy Lamour is trying to sell her Holmby Hills home, because—although she is happily married to some one else—the place has too many memories of the late Herbie Kay, her first husband, including a block of concrete in which they imprinted their names and a loving message in the happy days of their honeymoon . . . Lily Damita and Lt. Joe Kernell are a heart toddy . . . Milton Berle is slimmer by 20 pounds. A new diet designed to make him look like Gary Cooper . . . Lt. Lex Thompson is slated for a major operation . . . A famous ballplayer is in trouble with his manager for making a big Broadway night spot his camping ground. He's mad for a chorine there.

THE ZEPPO MARXES, who recently adopted a baby boy, will ditto a baby girl . . . Gene Sheldon is the surprise hit of Lou Walters' "Take a Bow." Got raves in Philly . . . The Charles Mosses (he's the theater magnate) are gathering a little Moss . . . Can you imagine? A customer at Jack Dempsey's stole a whole table top (with the champ's life-sized picture on it) from the restaurant the other night during the dinner hour . . . Billie Holiday, who chants at Le Ruban Bleu, is desolate. Her wire-haired fox terrier, "Besame Mucho," has disappeared . . . Poor Al Jolson! He tossed a birthday party with most of the town's showgirls and models as his guests, put on the greatest show of his career for an hour and a half—and wound up without a date for that night! . . . Candy Jones has gotten her release from her "Mexican Hayride" bosses and applied for overseas work with the USO.

IS IT TRUE there will be another increase in income tax rates for single guys and gals right after the elections? . . . Is Grover Whalen about to emerge as the active head of the New York World Fashion Center movement? . . . Do you know that strictly speaking a WAC enlisted woman must obtain permission to go out with her husband if he's an Army officer? . . . Did you know that four marriages have resulted from the blind dates arranged by the "Blind Date" radio program, and that Sherman Billingsley of the Stork was asked to be best man at two of them? . . . Wasn't that a riot at Camp Kilmer when Gertrude Niesen, wowed by the enthusiastic response of the soldiers, forgot the words to "I Wanna Get Married" which she sings in "Follow The Girls?"

SAY, DELIA, AREN'T YOU BEING A LITTLE HARSH WITH THE BIG BOY? Y'KNOW, HE'S REALLY AN EARL, OWNS A CASTLE IN ENGLAND, AND HAS PLENTY OF THAT GOOD WALLET IVY!--- HE'D BE AN EASY CATCH IF YOU'D SET OUT A FEW TRAPS!

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, June 5—Maria Montez, regardless of what the studio may call her, or the name of her picture, is known as "The Bra Woman" to the G. I.'s everywhere. And those guys know how to call their shots.

Maria Montez

She also knew how to put her best points — and everything else—forward before a camera when she arrived at Universal. She knew the value of publicity and turned her charm on the studio photographers.

She received more publicity than many established movie stars.

Her big chance, of course, was "Arabian Nights." She is grateful to Technicolor. "When I look at myself, I am so beautiful I scream with joy," she says.

She is very ambitious. She has decided to learn Russian, to read a couple of good books, to work harder on her publicity and to become a better actress.

* * *

HER REAL NAME is Maria Gracia van Dahl de Santo Silas y McFeeters. Her father was Spanish, Ysidoro Gracia de Santo y Silas, the consul general to the Republic of Santo Domingo. Her mother was Maria van Dahl, of a Dutch political refugee family. The McFeeters is from an early and brief marriage.

She likes company—the more the merrier. She writes poetry, and occasionally an article. She is the author of "Hollywood Wolves I Have Tamed."

She was born in Tijuilla, the capital of Santo Domingo, on June 6, 1919. She went to school in the Canary Islands, traveled abroad, and eventually went to New York where McClelland Barclay, the painter, named her the "perfect cosmopolitan type."

She can be very temperamental on a set.

* * *

SHE IS MARRIED to Jean Pierre Aumont. At their wedding, by actual count, the bride was kissed 112 times for the photographers. Aumont is now with Gen. De Gaulle stationed in London. He is liaison officer between De Gaulle's forces and the British and American armies. He made Maria promise that she would not dance with anyone while he was away. She has been faithful.

Maria resides in a Spanish type stucco house in Beverly Hills. She has an enclosed patio where she takes sun baths. Inside, her living room is formal, sedate and customary. But in the privacy of her boudoir she yields to the Latin instinct for color.

The drapes are glazed yellow chintz with a riotous pattern of tropical flowers. A yellow chenille rug is on the floor. A brilliant red chaise longue is an attention getter, and then there is the huge four-poster bed, covered with a double-flounced bedspread, yellow, of course.

LA MONTEZ takes excellent care of herself in every manner. Before she goes to bed at night she brushes her hair, cleans her teeth with a mixture of tooth powder and lemon juice, and dips cotton pellets in alcohol to remove all trace of make-up from her face. In the morning she rides about 20 miles on a stationary bicycle. When she is ready to go to bed she puts on a black sheer chiffon negligown.

MONDAY MUSINGS: Atlantic City, which is "wide open" again for the first time since its former czar, "Nucky" Johnson, went to the cooler on demand of Uncle Sam, incorporates a few conservative and humane enterprises among its dollar-grabbing ventures, and one of them might be something to interest the majestic Commonwealth of Massachusetts . . . This boon to beach-going citizens is the adjustable chair, with a canvas top that is proof against the rays of Old Sol.

* * *

THE FAMOUS SOUVENIR CITY of the Jersey coast has perhaps the most colorful and attractive stretch of silvery strand on the whole eastern seaboard, and we do not except our own famous Revere Beach, Nantasket Beach or Silver Beach at West Falmouth . . . But part of the charm of the Atlantic City beachfront comes from these same chairs . . . Their shading tops are of many colors, and when thousands of them dot the beachfront, the vision is kaleidoscopic . . . Of more importance, the chairs are highly utilitarian . . . Mothers and their children would certainly welcome them . . . One chair to a family, to be used in relays, at a reasonable charge per hour, would make bathing in the sun a healthful enterprise which could be taken moderately . . . The gentlemen in charge of giving out concessions for the State could harvest some bills of large denomination for the State treasury.

* * *

ATLANTIC CITY'S leading new eating place is a restaurant called the Knife and Fork, and a most popular place in a night club which consists only of a huge circular bar which fringes the whole room . . . Inside the bar, dancing is enjoyed . . . The auctioneer shops are cleaning up in "Nucky" Johnson's former domain . . . At least 40 per cent of the tourist traffic is in uniform . . . Gambling suffered a slight relapse this week-end due to a raid on one of the leading clubs . . . But it is expected to be no more than temporary.

* * *

LOU WALTERS' new musical is now called "Take a Bow" . . . One of the Shuberts looked at it in Philadelphia, and the Walters show (originally called "Slap Happy") will play a Shubert house in New York . . . Cross and Dunn and the Ross Sisters are out, and Raye and Naldi and Think-a-Drink Hoffman go in . . . Gene Sheldon, the ukulele pantomimist, is great . . . The New York critics will acclaim him this time . . . Chico Marx is prominent in the show, too.

* * *

ENFLAIN IT AS YOU WILL, the fact remains that business in the bottle-goods store has fallen off nearly 40 per cent since the 50 per cent tax on cabaret checks went into effect . . . Another aftermath of the tax—but a predictable one—is the loosening of the wholesale liquor market . . . Nightclub and hotel proprietors who had stocked up against the heretofore rush of patronage are now drawing from reserve stocks . . . High-priced brands which were unprocurable except at black market prices of $14 to $25 a bottle, are now being displayed in bottle stores . . . They are also being served, if you demand them, in most of the "class" cabarets and hotels . . . It is good news, too, to pass along that some of the speculators in the black market on liquor have been caught with their brands down.

* * *

THE GRADUATING CLASS of Jeanne d'Arc Academy will hold its senior prom at the Copley-Plaza Saturday next . . . Exclusive: Joe Linsey has bought the rights of the University Club's dining room (as was forecast here a month ago) . . . The place will be opened under the Linsey sponsorship within a month as a high-class eating place.

M'Kechnie Bares Woes of Manager

By AUSTEN LAKE

Twas only 'tuther day when Jolly Cholly Grimm, the reprieved manager of the Cubs, remarked that the reason he lasted so long as a major league player, before he took up executive worrying as a vocation, was that when he closed the clubhouse door and went home he forgot about baseball until the next morning.

And he said he'd learned that lesson while a youngster with the old Pirates because once he'd known a player who used to take the ball game home at night, especially if he had a bad day, and play it over at the dinner table with his wife. So after a couple of years, said Cholly, both the athlete and the wife had nervous breakdowns.

Bill McKechnie

So I mentioned this to Bill McKechnie as he sat peering pensively through his specs at the Braves meadowland, which in the past had been his acres. And Bill passed his paw over his lean chops and meditated like a learned yogi. Finally the regent of the Cincinnati Reds observed that the difference between the worries of a manager and those of the player is that the latter has only himself to worry about while the manager has twenty-five other fellows on his mind.

"No sir," said Bill expectorating with deep reflection, "the ball player is like a lathe turner. When he quits at five o'clock he doesn't fret about his machinery till he punches his time card next morning. And, like as not, while he's snoozing comfortably, the manager is squirming in his bed or walking the floor, trying to puzzle out some method of stepping up production or reducing the overhead or settling labor quarrels, so he can keep the company out of the red."

Human Nature Test

So I asked William what he considered to be a major league manager's principal problem and he answered unhesitatingly, "To stop himself from straining mentally and nervously to the point where he loses his sense of baseball values—where he yanks a pitcher too quick, or delays too late; where he loses his nerve in the clutch and is afraid to 'squeeze' a base runner in, or to play his infield back for the double play. The instant a manager tightens and gets the twitters, the whole team senses it and his goose is cooked."

All right then, how much does a manager play in the success of a ball club? Said Bill, "If his judgment and understanding of human nature are sound, he can help a club. If not, he's a hindrance. It's not only a grasp of baseball percentages and field sciences. He's got to study the temperament of his men, learn to know their oddities, their personalities; when to wheedle or cajole one man while scolding and driving another. For no manager ever won a pennant by master minding from the dugout—the legends of McGraw, Connie Mack and Joe McCarthy notwithstanding. He might be the smartest manager in the head that ever lived and still see his strategy go sour because of dumb execution on the field. So the biggest part of his job is when the ball game ends and he goes home to mull it over and get ready for the next ball game."

"Because," said Bill, "no ball manager ever admits that the other team won the game. As he looks at it his side lost it. Somebody kicked a grounder in the pinch, his ace pitcher lacked his usual hop, his batters were biting at bad pitches, a base runner missed a sign that would have meant the tying run. So every defeat is due, not to the strength of the other team, but weakness of his own club."

Bill suddenly cupped his hands and bawled in his top sergeant's voice to get those discarded bats away from the hitting cage before somebody busted their darn fool ankles. Then returning to his soft, choir singer's modulation, he said, "So he's gotta figure what to do about it. If it's just a boot by a dependable shortstop, or a sudden spasm of wildness by a normally air-tight pitcher, or the failure of a good man to bunt properly—he doesn't bother about it. But when he sees a player that he's counted on fading day by day, he realizes something must be done. So he gets to rattling the thing around in his mind—worrying and especially at night when he can give his whole attention to worrying."

No Managerial Magic?

Now unless you know Bill, he doesn't appear to be a worrying type. His off field nature is buoyant, his speech quiet, his manner relaxed. A casual aquaintance would label him a habitual optimist.

"Right now," he said, "I'm wrestling with several problems. I found myself turning them over in my mind long after midnight when the street noises outside had stopped. About the only creatures awake in the town were a couple of night birds and I.

"I've got a fair hitting club but we lack that distance punch. We leave too many runners on the bases. Look at the team averages. We're lowest in runs scored and runs batted in. And that's the payoff. Shall I shake up the batting order, or let it ride. We've got one of the best pitching nucleuses in the league—Walters (8-2), Shoun (4-1), Heusser (3-3), Riddle and Malloy. But my relief work has been spotty. So am I apt to overwork the boys here and pay up with a late summer slump?"

Bill massaged his knuckles, the same old mannerism he had while managing the Fuchian Braves. "I have no magic," he added, "It's just horse sense, a matter of playing the percentages with a slight dash of hunch, just putting the best pitcher I have at the start of the ball game and, if he doesn't get by, yanking him for the next best pitcher. The rest is pretty much up to the boys. That doesn't sound like magic, does it?"

No, not the way Bill tells it! But he's got the fullsome, canny respect of seven other league managers. Maybe I'd better ask them what he's got and they haven't.

Jesse Owens Comes Back to Defeat Girl

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Helen Stephens of Fulton, Mo., who won fame as a sprinter in the Olympic games at Berlin, was outraced yesterday, by Jesse Owens, Western Conference and Olympics star who now is employed in a Detroit war plant, in a special handicap event during a baseball program at Wrigley Field.

Spotting the feminine runner 10 yards, Owens shaded her at the finish of a 100-yard race. No time was given.

Sox Head Home; Doerr, 3 Others Facing Draft

Heading eastward after their 7 and 8 split with the Western clubs, the Red Sox stop off at Sampson, N. Y., this afternoon to play an exhibition game with the strong Naval Training Center team here.

The Sox bumped into disaster trying to subdue the Great Lake Naval Training team last week when Virgil Trucks, the former Detroit hurler, turned them back. Indications point to another warm reception for the Sox today at Sampson when they face either Johnny Vander Meer, former Cincinnati Red twirler or Hal White, the former Detroit pitcher.

BUCHER STARS

The future of some of the key players of the Red Sox team will be in balance within a few days when they report to the local draft boards for their physical examination. Those players hearing the bugle are Bobby Doerr, Roy Partee, Leon Culberson and Yank Terry.

While the Sox missed an even break on the recent invasion of the West they come up with some good baseball in spots. Jimmy Bucher, who enjoyed a couple of breakfasts with the Brooklyn Dodgers, before he went down river seems to be the new spark plug of the Cronin outfit.

The little third baseman, recently purchased from Indianapolis and filling in for Jim Tabor, who is nursing a severe Charley horse certainly has been busting the apple. In Saturday's game at Detroit Jimmy made a grand slam homer in addition to a two-run double, accounting for six of the Sox runs. In yesterday's first game Bucher gathered three of the seven hits made off Dizzy Trout. Not bad for a substitute.

The Red Sox open a series Wednesday with the Yankees. On Thursday night a twilight game with the champions will be played, the game starting at 6 o'clock. Friday is an open date, but the Sox and Yanks swing back into action for a Saturday single followed by a Sunday twin bill.

TIGHT RACE IN A. L.

The American League race presents an alluring picture. The Red Sox are in a triple tie with Cleveland and Washington for fifth place, which is a more generous spot reference than last place.

Although the Sox, Indians and Senators are bunched at the rear of the parade, all three are only 5½ games away from the leading St. Louis Browns. This is the closest American League race in many years. Some of the other teams have had their wish fulfilled. The Yanks have been broken up. But it took a war along with its enlistments and drafted men to do the job.

Meanwhile starting Wednesday the Braves, who looked so good on their recent home stay, will devote the balance of the week on the road against the Giants and Dodgers.

Pros Help Fort Riley

Pitching and hitting supplied by former St. Louis Cardinals helped Ft. Riley defeat the Wichita Colemans in a Kansas-Oklahoma Victory League game at Wichita, Kan., May 22. Murry Dickson pitched hitless ball for the first five innings and Harry Walker made three hits and figured in all of the Centaurs' runs.

Braintree and Newton to Open

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Newton and Braintree High School baseball teams will take over the honors for opening the Eastern Mass. championship play at Braves Field, Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m., according to an announced release today by (take a deep breath) the Eastern Mass. Interscholastic Schoolboy Writers' Ass'n.

These schools will press the starter on four sessions of torrid baseball to determine the local titlist who will face the western leader June 17 for the state crown.

In the other half of the opening day twin bill Brockton high, originally slated to face its first test Thursday, has had its clash with Somerville moved up to Wednesday because of the date of graudations. The Thursday program will now pit Medford against Cambridge Latin and Lawrence against Natick.

As in other years, winners of Wednesday games will open the Friday elimination series with the victors of the Thursday tilts slated for the nightcap. Finalists will take over Saturday afternoon at 3.

BROCKTON HAS PITCHERS

Beyond any doubt, Medford, with an incomparable record of 16 straight victories, will be installed the favorite over the field. The Mustangs of Coach Art Tirrell are a scrappy, aggresive outfit but here's a vote for Brockton to come through as the Eastern champion after one of the closest battles of the tournament.

Of the eight entries, Brockton has the most impressive pitching staff with all the aces allowed in the deck as a first call firing line. As a matter of fact, Coach Charlie Holden's biggest problem will be in solving his problem of which of the quartet to start for Dick Sharycz, Vern Norman, Sam Tasho (brother of Nick who pitched for opponent Somerville a few years back) and Bob Lefty Sullivan are ready to take over the mound.

Brockton's biggest headache will be getting beyond its first test, Somerville, a great "money" team. After that, Coach Holden will still have a No. 1 pitcher to toe the mound while other qualifiers for the semi-finals will be forced to call on second choices.

Medford's greatest disadvantage will be its amazing winning spree. The pressure on the Greater Boston League champions will be much greater than on any of the others and their opening test, against the Cantabs, will be anything but a soft touch.

Dog Races Open At Revere Track

By JACK CONWAY

WONDERLAND PARK steps back into the greyhound racing picture tonight with a ten-race program. It will be the first of 100 nights of racing. In view of the increased attendance and mutuel handle at Raynham Park and at the Florida dog tracks, as well as at the horse tracks, it is expected that Wonderland Park will shatter all records.

It will be the tenth year of greyhound racing at Wonderland Park. The Revere track has been the wonder racing plant of the world in the matter of the mutuel handles. Considering plant investment and overhead, the greyhound track has done better than Suffolk Downs financially.

In the early days of dog racing in Massachusetts, the sport was bitterly attacked from many quarters. Few people knew much about dog racing, and as a result the sport only had a handful of friends.

Charles Connors

Dog racing without scandal under the supervision of Chairman Charles F. Connors of the Massachusetts Racing Commission and his various associates over the last ten years has enabled greyhound racing to establish itself on a firm basis. There are now many persons who will insist that the dog races are decided more on their merits than the horse races.

The Racing Commission recognized the previous bad history of the sport, and adopted safeguards that placed the sport above suspicion. Everything was brought out into the open so that the public could see what was happening.

The dogs were taken under the control of representatives of the Commission on the night of races so that there was not any tampering with them. Weighing ins took place in front of the bettors.

Plant Improvements

NUMEROUS improvements have been made in the Revere plant under the supervision of George Funk, one of America's leading architects. The fans will be more comfortable than ever, while it will be possible to handle larger sums of money at the mutuel machines.

The schoolings at Revere have shown that the noble breed of greyhounds is ready for the races. Even Swifty has shown some signs of new life.

The parking lots will be open at Revere now that restrictions have been lifted on the use of cars. Wonderland Park did a big business even when it had to contend with dimouts and transportation bans. Now that conditions at the track are back to normal, Wonderland Park should have its most successful season.

This was one of the tracks which Gordon B. Hanlon, president of the Aldred Investment Trust and now president of Suffolk Downs, tried to acquire. Hanlon felt that either horse or dog racing was a good investment.

Ortiz Here Thursday

MANUEL ORTIZ, Mexican world's bantamweight champion, Tommy Farmer, his manager, Mrs. Farmer and a party of friends will arrive in Boston on Thursday. Ortiz has signed to clash with Larry Bolvin of Providence, New England featherweight champion and a former All-America title holder, at an Eddie Mack show at National League Park on June 29.

Ortiz is also under contract to clash with Willie Pep, world's featherweight champion, in an overweight match at National League Park on July 17. Mack has taken the precaution of signing Bolvin to take Ortiz' place against Pep in the event the Providence featherweight wins from the sensational Mexican.

Raynham Veterans' Race

RUSS MURRAY'S Raynham dog track will hold another race for the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser on Friday night. The third event on the card, which will have many crack greyhounds as starters, will be the Veterans' race.

The three races already staged for the Disabled Veterans Fund have raised almost $6500. It is expected that the program of nine races will enrich the Disabled Veterans Fund by about $20,000. It is racing's biggest effort to do something for the disabled veterans of this war.

Dykes' White Sox On Winning Spree

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Jimmy Dykes' onrushing Chicago White Sox extended their winning streak to six games by winning both ends of a double-header from the Washington Senators, 6-5 in 10 innings and 9-1, before 20,508 fans yesterday.

The double triumph enabled the Pale Hose to make a clean sweep of the four game series with the Senators and elevated them into the American League first division for the first time in a month.

The Senators, on the other hand, in dropping both games, hit the bottom of the standings, having lost nine of their last 10 games.

Substitute First Baseman Ed Carnett of the White Sox was the hero of the first game, making four hits and driving in two runs. Gordon Maltzberger won his fifth game in relief. Tommy Turner paced the Chicago attack with three hits in the second, including a home run. A total of 20,508 fans attended.

The New York Yankees split with the Cleveland Indians, the Yankees winning the first, 6-4, in 11 innings, and the Indians taking the second, 4-3, behind the six-hit pitching of Allie Reynolds. It marked the first time that the Yankees had lost a Sunday game, having won nine straight. In addition to going the full 11 innings, Rookie Joe Page hit a triple and scored two of the Yankee runs in the opener.

CARDS AND BROWNS LEAD

After Harry Gumbert had pitched the St. Louis Cards to a 4-2 victory over Philadelphia in the opener, Veteran Bill Lee held the National League champions to two hits in the second game and shut them out, 1-0. Young Fred Schmidt held the Phillies to four hits, but singles by Charlie Letchas and Andy Seminick, sandwiched around a walk to Bob Finley, scored the winning run for Philadelphia. The attendance was 23,313.

The St. Louis Browns retained their first place lead by winning the second game 4-3 after the Philadelphia Athletics had won the opener by the same score before 10,430. Jack Kramer, Brownie ace, won his own game by singling in Mark Christman with the winning run in the 10th inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won both games from the New York Giants, 9-4 and 7-4, before 30,659. Fritz Ostermueller, making his first start for the Pirates was the winner in the first, although two homers each by Babe Dahlgren and Jim Russell and one by Vince DiMaggio made it easy for him.

After battling for five hours and 33 minutes, the Chicago Cubs won one game and tied another with the Brooklyn Dodgers. An error by Eddie Basinski allowed the Cubs to score two unearned runs in the ninth inning of the opener to win 6-5. The second was called on account of darkness after 10 innings, with the score tied 8-8. The Dodgers rallied for six runs in the last four innings to tie after trailing 8-2 at the end of five innings.

Dick Casey Club May Sink Navy Tonight

Still sporting an unblemished record the Navy Yard A. A. tackles the Dick Casey Club tonight at the Dorchester Town Field as the Boston Park League starts the second third of its season and the league leaders stand a very good chance of having their slate spoiled for the first time this year in league competition.

The Casey Club got away to a slow start, being beaten by the Navy Yard twice in the opening week. But since then the Dorchester Club has come along and at present is only three points out of first place.

Mgr. Casey has seven players who are hitting over .600 and has the pitching to stop anything. While the Charlestown team, not in it with the Caseys as far as slugging is concerned, will have to depend on its hurling staff to keep it on top.

Charlie Bird, well known local pitcher, will do the hurling for the Caseys and Mgr. Frank Spano will call upon either Red Chappie or Larry Kelley for his team. In a non-league game a week ago Bird came through with a nifty 10-2 triumph over the shipbuilders and is anxious to repeat tonight. The Navy Yard hurlers are out for revenge and a great pitching duel is in the offing.

In the other games on tonight's schedule Linehan Club meets the revived West Roxbury A. A. at Billings Field and Lawley's, strengthed by new talent, takes on Hicks Engineering at Draper Park.

Harvard and Tech Hit the Finals

NEW LONDON, Ct., June 5 (AP)—Harvard and the defending Massachusetts Institute of Technology crews qualified for the finals of the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association's McMillian Cup championship in the preliminary series of the 1944 competition on the Thames river here yesterday.

Yale, placing third, stands a fair chance of also being qualified, depending upon the number of teams which can be accommodated in the finals at Marblehead.

George O'Day, Harvard skipper in the single crew event, won three of six races for a total of 37¾ points, while Charles Bloomer, sailing for M. I. T., took two firsts for 36½ points. Ashandon of Yale won one race and scored 29¼ points.

The second preliminary will be held with six other colleges competing next Sunday.

While the McMillian cup racing was going on yesterday, the Coast Guard Academy team defeated Worcester Tech in a dual meet, 85 to 50.

Joe Gordon Still Flossy

Joe Gordon, star Yankee second baseman, still has the faculty of lining out base hits. In his first game with the Airtrancos baseball team of Camp Luna, Las Vegas, May 24, Joe cracked out a double and three singles in five times up. He also fielded without flaw and participated in two double plays as the Airtrancos whipped the Las Vegas All-Stars, 10 to 4.
